The world can't hear Homer speak his own words, but Stanley Lombardo is the next best thing.

Reading his own acclaimed translations, Lombardo's insightful rendition takes advantage of the rhythms and other poetic resources of everyday American speech.

The result provides cinematic and performance qualities to the time-honored poetry — sharp scene cuts, dynamic language, urgency of the characters (human and divine).

His virtuoso performance in these audiobooks reflects years of experience before a wide variety of audiences — beautifully paced, shaped, intoned, and acted throughout.

The definitive English version of Homer for our time.
— The Common Review

The quality of Stan's voice, which has an honest, unshowy American core, makes these performances sound fresh, intimate, and believable— very different from those theatricalized oral interpretations that overplay the “epic” note.
— Richard P. Martin
Stanford University

Remarkably true to the centrality of performance in Homer, the varied pacing and tone, the clarity, speed, narrative drive, and moments of breathtaking beauty.
— Rachel Hadas
Rutgers University

Just the right degree of involvement or detachment as each circumstance in the reading calls for.
— William Levitan
Grand Valley State University

The excellence of Stan's performance can't be lauded too much. There's no other translator of the world's greatest poetry that is also a world-class reader.
— Douglass Parker
University of Texas at Austin
